

ATONEMENT

Jewish Perspectives Catholic Perspectives A Dialogue of Human Experience

- ✚ Members of Temple Beth-El, Little Flower Catholic Church, and others will dialogue, sharing our vast theological traditions, and moreover, our human experience of atonement in a seminar-type environment.
- ✚ What is atonement? What does it mean to live in, fall away from, and return to right relationship with God, others, and oneself?
- ✚ Rabbi Eric J. Siroka and Jay Freel Landry will co-facilitate the sessions. Monday evening and Tuesday morning sessions will have the same focus.
- ✚ Monday evening at Temple Beth-El starting September 13, 7:00 - 8:45 p.m.
- ✚ Tuesday morning at Little Flower starting September 14, 9:15 – 11:00 a.m.
- ✚ There are seven sessions with the last sessions on October 25/26.
- ✚ There is no particular text being used for this seminar series. A list of books that address the topic will be available at the first sessions. You are encouraged to read what interests you.
- ✚ An RSVP is requested for Temple Beth-El (234-4402) and Little Flower (273-9722) members by September 10, so we know how many folks are coming to each session – please indicate which session you wish to attend (Monday evening or Tuesday morning). The wider community is requested to register through Forever Learning (282-1901).
